THE COMMUNITY

Located in the western part of Oregon's agriculturally rich Willamette Valley, the city of McMinnville is a progressive and dynamic community. The McMinnville Downtown Historic district features 100 buildings with architectural and historical significance. Ongoing revitalization efforts have transformed the downtown area into a charming and popular destination, where visitors can enjoy live theater, fine restaurants and plenty of great shopping.

The Evergreen Aviation Museum is home of the famous Spruce Goose, the brainchild of eccentric billionaire and aviation pioneer Howard Hughes, and the largest wooden aircraft ever built. The museum features an IMAX 3D Theater as well as 60 other vintage planes.

McMinnville is home to Linfield College. One of the oldest colleges in the West, Linfield offers 41 majors for bachelor degrees on its 193-acre residential campus, which serves over 1,600 students. This independent, comprehensive liberal arts college is nationally recognized for its strong teaching faculty, outstanding science program and distinctive international emphasis. The McMinnville Campus of Chemeketa Community College also offers a wide range of educational programs.

RECREATION

McMinnville is the perfect location for anyone who loves the Great Outdoors. Whether you love the mountains, the ocean or forest wilderness, everything's convenient. The Pacific Ocean beaches are only 50 miles away. Mount Hood, the highest peak in Oregon at 14,249 feet, is only 75 miles away, and there are numerous ski resorts within easy driving distance. It's just 27 miles to Spirit Mountain Casino in Grand Ronda, one of Oregon's most popular destinations, and just 48 miles to Chinook Winds Casino in Lincoln City on the Pacific Coast.

The McMinnville Aquatic Center features two indoor pools, a spa and fully equipped weight room. There are also two golf courses and 12 parks in the area. The 22-acre Discovery Meadows Community Park, features a 12-foot climbing boulder, basketball courts and skate park.
